

Edward Boon

Edward Boon works at Promote International in Sweden as an instructional design and training evaluation consultant, and course leader.

Moving to Sweden in 2002 from his home in the UK, Edward forged a career as an L&D professional. Starting with language skills training, Edward quickly moved into communication soft skills training and from there into the design and delivery of leadership programs.

In the most recent phase of his career Edward has moved towards the areas of instructional design and training evaluation. Edward works closely with Kirkpatrick Partners and Professor Robert Brinkerhoff providing both training and consultancy services to help his clients get more value from the training they provide.

Edward is a Kirkpatrick Certified Professional to Silver Level and a Kirkpatrick Certified Facilitator. In addition, he is co-author of the book Improving Performance through Learning and public speaker at events such as ASTD.
